

History, 27 (1976), 369-86; that Cole had a number of 'very advantageous proposals' to remove to London was known, also that Sir Richard Ellys, Bart., to whom Gifford was chaplain, 'had a very high esteem' for Cole and was 'a particular friend of Calamy, but not that Cole was invited to succeed Calamy. For Isaac Noble, a Congregational minister prominent in the Association movement in 1690 and in correspondence with ministers in Lancashire, Yorkshire and Wales, see my 'Assembly and Association in Dissent, 1689-1831', in Councils and Assemblies (Studies in Church History, 7), Cambridge 1971, pp. 289-309.

GEOFFREY F. NUTTALL

* * * * *

1689 CONFSSION COMMEMORATION

We have been informed that a committee has been formed, representative of those 'loyal to the historic Particular Baptist Confession known as the London Confession of 1689', to consider how the 300th anniversary of its original declaration 'might best be marked for the glory of God in an international call to gospel enterprise'.

Interested Baptists who wish to be placed on the mailing list and kept informed should send a stamped addressed envelope to '1689 Commemoration', P.O.Box 140, London NWB 7SW.