

Editorial

A PERSONAL NOTE

WITH the present issue of THE CHURCHMAN I relinquish my task as Editor, after serving in that capacity for the past seven years. It has been a very real privilege to serve in this way, and the work has given me a good deal of pleasure.

I would like to take this opportunity of expressing my gratitude to the members of the Editorial Board for the unflinching and ungrudging help they have given me since I took over the task. Each one of them has taken a personal and active interest in the editorial affairs of THE CHURCHMAN, and anything that has been accomplished through the journal in recent years owes more than I can say to their counsel and encouragement. My thanks are also due to the Correspondents for the services they have rendered in different capacities from time to time.

The Rev. J. C. Pollock, author of the recently published history of the Cambridge Inter-Collegiate Christian Union, A Cambridge Movement, and Rector-designate of Horsington, Somerset, has been appointed as Editor in my place. In extending to him and the journal my best of good wishes for the future I would express the hope that in the days to come THE CHURCHMAN may make a yet more effective contribution to the theological thought of the Church of England, and will continue to represent Anglican Evangelicalism at its biggest and best.
