THE RETIREMENT OF
THE REV. DR BETHUNE-BAKER

IT is with great regret that the editors announce the retirement of the Rev. Dr Bethune-Baker, who has recently resigned the Lady Margaret's Professorship of Divinity at Cambridge, from the editorship of The Journal of Theological Studies. Dr Bethune-Baker became an editor in 1903, when the JOURNAL was in its fourth year, and held office till last October. Short though their own experience has been, the present editors are perhaps now alone in a position properly to appreciate the labours he has bestowed upon the JOURNAL. Apart from the contributions which have appeared above his initials, every number of the JOURNAL which has appeared during the last thirty-two years is indebted in countless unsuspected ways to his wide learning, wise judgement, and unsparing pains. It is a satisfaction to the editors to know that the Committee of Direction have co-opted Dr Bethune-Baker to be of their number. He will thus still be at hand to aid the editors with his counsel. May he find every happiness in his retirement and be spared to live many years ἐν εὐκαιρίᾳ σχολῆς!
