

Developing global ministry outcomes

Background/Reality Check

Studies show that over 90% of all pastors do not have a formal theological education. According to statistics, that equates to well over 2 million Protestant pastors worldwide. In addition, every year thousands of new Protestant churches are established, very often without a trained pastor or preacher. The biggest crisis facing the evangelical, global church today is the fact that most pastors, missionaries, Christian leaders and laity have no formal theological training. Re-Forma has set as its goal to fundamentally remedy this situation.

Foundational Statement

Re-Forma is responding to the crisis of insufficiently trained church leadership. Founded on outcome- and impact-based assessment, Re-Forma provides recognised benchmarks for informal and nonformal biblically-based ministry through 2 distinctive programs:

- A. Guidelines for evaluating the over 40000 training programmes for ministry competency; and
- B. Guidelines for start-up organisations wanting to train many thousands of church leaders annually, to narrow the gap.

The world desperately needs Christian leaders who know the Scripture and can effectively serve the church. For these servants, Re-Forma awards a globally recognised Certificate, underwritten by the World Evangelical Alliance.

Important: Re-Forma does not tell ministry organisations what to do or how to do it, but rather provides resources to assist them in achieving the goals they have formulated. It does not focus its work on traditional, formal theological education, but rather on non-formal/informal leadership formation needs which exist at all levels, from grass-roots upwards. The outcomes we prescribe are extremely simple and can be demonstrated by students at any level, including those who only have a primary school education.

Vision

To ensure that millions of pastors and church leaders are biblically-trained by providing a recognised, global standard for outcome- and impact-based assessment.

Mission

Re-Forma exists to serve informal and nonformal training programs worldwide by

- Developing a system of affirmation for quality assurance
- Helping to unify, simplify and complement the numerous ministry training programs
- Providing a platform for outcome- and impact-based assessment
- Encouraging and supporting start-up programs

Statement of Faith

Re-Forma subscribes to the Lausanne Covenant and the Statement of Faith of the World Evangelical Alliance.

Quality Assurance Institutes

Re-Forma conducts regular Quality Assurance Institutes in various places around the world. At these events, those who teach the outcomes, whether they be pastors, teachers, etc., are given specific training in various aspects of the outcomes.

Audience

Organisations involved in training for ministry, which aim to equip

1. People in ministry who need training, many of whom are at grass-roots level
2. Trained pastors (to renew their passion, vision, know-how to train others – to make disciples)
3. Leaders involved in Christian ministry: for example, educators, Bible study leaders, missionaries, lay workers, etc.

Outcomes

Re-Forma has developed two sets of extremely simple outcomes:

- A. The first is for existing providers, i.e., those organizations which are already using a curriculum to train their students (see A below).
- B. The second is for new providers. i.e., those organizations which do not have any curriculum (see B below).

Those providers who already have a curriculum may only need to supplement their existing outcomes with any not listed in the Outcome Areas listed below, while new providers may choose to adopt the New Provider Curriculum outlined below. In both cases, however, students need to show that they have successfully demonstrated all the outcomes before being awarded the Certificate.

The list of Re-Forma outcomes is available free of charge to any provider wanting its students to qualify for the Re-Forma Certificate, which is underwritten by the World Evangelical Alliance. Please note that this not an accredited programme, but the Certificate provides an international standard for non-formal/informal training. If a provider already has a curriculum and its students have successfully demonstrated all Re-Forma's outcomes, they will automatically qualify for the Certificate. If they have demonstrated only some of the outcomes, the provider will be required to supplement its curriculum with the missing outcomes to be able to fulfil the required outcomes. The awarding of the Certificate will cost a nominal administration fee of $5US per student in the developing world and $10 per student elsewhere.

You will find helpful resources for many of the outcomes on our website <https://www.re-forma.global>. We will also focus on key aspects of the curriculum in our Quality Assurance Institutes, which are held in various parts of the world.

All our outcomes will be regularly refined as we receive feedback from the providers who use them.
