INTRODUCTORY NOTE

THIS general Index to the Society’s Proceedings Volumes I-XXX and Publications Nos. I-IV has occupied the leisure hours of the past five years. Begun on a much more limited scale in response to a passing remark by the Editor in Volume XXXI, p. 106, it has since been revised, at the request of the Society’s Executive Committee, to make it as comprehensive as the limitations of the compiler and the hard economics of publication allow. It is an entirely new index, the fruit of three successive journeys through the Proceedings; not an amalgam of the indexes to the separate volumes (though it has been carefully checked against many of these in the closing stages of the work). It has also been checked against L. T. Daw’s “Skeleton” Index to Volumes I-XVI, which it therefore supersedes.

A very large proportion of the references given in the volume indexes are too incidental to be of any value: the unconvinced reader is invited to confirm this the hard way. I have attempted both to exclude incidental references which would merely waste the time and patience of the user, and at the same time to include all references, however incidental, which may at some time be of use. (Thus, a name occurring in a context likely to render it significant, such as a contemporary document, has generally been included, even if little information accompanies it.) The “border-line” cases are extremely numerous, but I have tried to include, rather than exclude, in cases of real doubt.

The following notes may further aid the intelligent use of this Index.

Some of the material in the earlier volumes which is now more readily available in the Standard Journal and Letters has been omitted from the present index. For this reason, the list of John Wesley’s letters begins with Volume XVIII and includes only those letters not printed in Telford’s collection. Book reviews have not, in general, been indexed.

Cross references have been provided where desirable. It should be noted, in particular, that the inevitable concentration of references under the name of “Wesley, John” has been dealt with by dispersing as many as possible under different heads. Complex entries, such as his Journal, Letters and Portraits, are dealt with under those headings; for his visits to any particular place, see under the place-name.

Local historians are advised to search under the name of the circuit (bearing in mind any changes in circuit designation and boundaries) as well as under the place-name of the local society. Names of Methodists prominent in particular societies or circuits, but not otherwise known to history, have not generally been indexed except under the place-name, unless considerable information is given about them.
INTRODUCTORY NOTE

Letters quoted in full or at length are indexed under both writer and recipient. Titles of articles are italicized. An asterisk following a reference indicates that the text is accompanied by an illustration. The symbol "(Q)" denotes an entry in the "Notes and Queries". A list of standard abbreviations is given on page vi.

Separate indexes of Wesley Letters, Illustrations, and Contributors follow the main index.

No one who has had any experience of indexing would be foolish enough to claim perfection in such work; but this index is now as comprehensive and accurate as I am capable of making it. For the errors and omissions that remain, I alone am responsible, and I shall be grateful if members will notify me of those they discover, through the Society's Editor. They would have been far more numerous but for the generous assistance given to me in the final stages of checking the draft, and I am pleased to acknowledge my debt of gratitude to the following: The Revs. Frank Baker, B.A., B.D., Ph.D., John C. Bowmer, M.A., B.D., R. Lee Cole, M.A., B.D., George A. E. Cornforth, M.A., Norman P. Goldhawk, M.A., Walter A. Goss, M.A., David Kynaston, J. Henry Martin, J. Wesley Parfitt, John J. Perry, H. Morley Rattenbury, M.A., Thomas Shaw, J. Bernard Sheldon, Wesley F. Swift, and Victor E. Vine.

I am also grateful to Miss G. M. Button, of Ipswich, and Mr. Alfred A. Taberer, the Society's printer, for valiant achievements in typing and printing the index. To my wife, who, not content with forfeiting many hours of my precious company, has patiently assisted with the checking of drafts and proofs, I owe a debt which it is almost impertinent to acknowledge.

JOHN A. VICKERS.

Ipswich, December, 1959.

EDITORIAL ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

It is a pleasurable duty to acknowledge, on behalf of the Executive Committee of the Wesley Historical Society, the work of Mr. John A. Vickers in the compilation of this General Index to the Proceedings of the Society. Mr. Vickers has enabled us to place in the hands of research students an indispensable guide to the wealth of material which the Society has published in the last sixty years, and we are grateful to him for his labours.

LETTERS OF JOHN WESLEY

The following index of Wesley Letters includes only those not printed in Telford's Standard Edition, with the addition of a few which Telford gives only in fragmentary form.

The letters are divided into two groups—(i) those printed in extenso in the Proceedings: reference to these will also be found under names of recipients, in the main index; (ii) those to which reference only is made, e.g. as being offered for sale at Sotheby's. (Those listed in vol. xxv, p. 113f belong to the Dodsworth Bequest made to Wesley's House, London.) A few notes are appended to each list.

* A fragment only of this letter is given in Standard Letters, vii. p. 65.

* The date in the transcript is wrongly given as 1741. This was corrected to 1781 in vol. xxiii, p. 72.

* The transcript gives 1788, but the annotator thinks 1790 the more likely date.
